

The turf department at Atlanta Country Club is currently seeking individuals to join our team to complete a summer internship. Our main focus is to develop the skills needed to be successful in an ever-changing industry. We prioritize training that includes: course set-up, mowing, irrigation installation and repair, chemical and fertilizer applications, water-management, small project management, budgeting, and tournament preparation and management. We also emphasize playing the golf course to realize the correlation between golf and golf course management.

Atlanta Country Club was formed in 1964 and has hosted numerous professional tournaments including the inaugural Tournament Players Championship in 1974 won by Jack Nicklaus. For 30 years, Atlanta Country Club hosted the Atlanta Classic, a PGA event. In addition to the professional tournaments, Atlanta Country Club also hosted a USGA Women's Amateur and Senior Men's Amateur.

Atlanta Country Club currently has bentgrass greens, bermuda fairways, approaches, and roughs, and a combination of bermuda and zoysia tee boxes. Interns will be evaluated during the course of their internship, and can earn higher levels of responsibility.
